The Washington club has been consistent, if nothing else, winding up the western trip yesterday in St. Louis with a defeat. Yesterday's score was 8 to 1 in favor of the Browns, and there was little in the contest worthy of note from a Washington standpoint. The Senators were again off in their fielding, and, in addition could hit Pitcher Harper safely only five times. On the other hand, the St. Louis aggrega-tion hit Case Patten almost at will and fielded brilliantly, a bad throw by McCormick being the only misplay. Billy Keister was out of the game on account of a sore hand, and Orth went into right, while Lee was shoved over into left. George Carey was still out of the game, and "Del" did his best at first.

The Browns, being safely in first place, played like champions, and it will require the best of ball to dislodge them. On the eastern trip the first two leaders will have an even chance, and the team playing the best ball will be able to hold on to its ad-best ball will be able to hold on to its advantage.

Neither side scored in the opening inning yesterday, but in the second "Scranton Bill" Coughlin, as usual, started things with a beautiful double to left center. Wyatt Lee then tried for a sacrifice bunt, and while he was being retired at first Coughlin took third. "Old Reliable" Ely then came forward with a timely single, and Coughlin scored. That ended the Senator's run getting on the day, blanks being served up to them for the remaining seven innings.

In the second inning the St. Louis also In the second inning the St. Louis also began working, scoring one run. They rested in the third, but went to the front with one run in the fourth. In the fifth came the slaughter, and when the dust had settled five big tallies had been added to St. Louis' score. In the seventh the Browns hung up one more run and then quit, with the score standing 8 to 1 in their favor.

The second seaside meeting of the New

the card was the $10,000 Bonner memorial

The talent in this race forsook the pools and made all their betting in the books, as in reality each heat is a distinct race. Prince the front till the third.

In the first heat Josh, a 5 to 1 shot, led

In the third, Schley Pointer, a son of the champion Star Pointer, led the party to the distance, with Prince Direct and Alice Mapes close up. Pointer broke close to the wire and the heat went to the Prince, with Alice Mapes at his wheel.

The 2.14 trot was on the same plan, and a good field of nine met. For the first heat The King was the favorite at 2 to 1, and he won, pulling up by two lengths. In Harry Payne Whitney and Herman B. Duryea, owners of Irish Lad, winner of the Saratoga Special on Saturday, have been so stirred up over the expressions of dissatisfaction by trainers and owners of other horses in the race and charges of foul riding made against Burns and other jockeys at Saratoga yesterday they were willing to waive all claim to the cup and the money won by the horse and run the race over again under the original conditions. They wrote a letter embodying this offer and sent it to the stewards, who discussed the matter at some length and then announced that in their judgment the circumstances did not call for any action on their part. This puts an end to all the talk of an investigation into the rough riding of jockeys in the Saratoga Special, and so far as the track officials are concerned the chapter is closed. It is much to be desired that the employers of the offending jockeys shall take such steps as shall make sure that the offenses shall not be repeated.

C. H. Pettingill, one of the finish judges, acted as starter at Saratoga yesterday in place of Mr. Fitzgerald. Mr. Fitzgerald has an attack of typhoid fever, and on Saturday went from his bed to the track importance of the stakes to be run for on that day. Sunday, however, he grew worse, and Dr. Murphy, his Brooklyn physician, was sent for. He consulted with Dr. William Polk, the eminent New York physician, and with Dr. Swan of Saratoga and decided that it was best to send the patient home. He left Saratoga last night in William C. Whitney's private car, which will be placed on a float at the Harlem river and taken direct to Brooklyn, where it will be run over a street car line to within two or three blocks of Mr. Fitzgerald's McDonough

Mr. Fitzgerald suffered a severe attack of typhold two years ago, and a second attack s almost invariably lighter than the first. It is thought the starter will be out in three

Judge Pettingill's last experience as a starter was at Aqueduct, in the fall of 1901, when he used a flag and no barrier. His work yesterday was good, except in the second race, when Sedition got his head caught in the barrier and was left.

Canada Yacht Comes Home a Leader by 5 Minutes and 27 Seconds. Trident won the Seawanhaka cup on Lake St. Louis, Canada, yesterday by defeating Tecumseh by five minutes twenty-seven seconds over a triangular course. At the hour of the start there was a dead calm. After waiting an hour and a half a breeze, strengthening to a squall, sprang up. Tecumseh was four minutes late in crossing the line and three and a half minutes after Trident. The wind shifted a good deal from the west to the southwest, and varied in pace from twenty-five to eighteen miles an hour, and a nasty sea got up.

Trident was nearly seven minutes ahead at the end of the first buoy, a beat, but lost in the reach. Trident had all the worst of the weather in the second beat, and actually lost three seconds on the leg. She was almost lost to gight in a tremendous squall of rain, but gained one minute eight leconds on the reach.
In the last beat Tecumseh was splendidly sailed. Carrying on with full mainsail at the risk of capsizing, she made up one minute and eleven seconds, but lost by five minutes twenty-seven seconds. "MAJOR" TAYLOR CLIMBING.

HEART STRAIN.

Lessons Drawn From the Death of Senator McMillan. From the New York Herald.

Senator McMillan's death, which occurred so unexpectedly on Sunday evening, was evidently due to overstraining a weak heart. It was not immediate as the result of overexertion at golf, but, as is not uncommon in similar cases, the ultimate collapse came subsequently when the circulation and breathing were quiet and when no special danger was apprehended. The initiatory attack of exhaustion was the warning of what was to follow. In persons with weak hearts the accident is more frequent than is generally sup-posed. The organ is overtaxed by a sudden spurt of energy and seldom, if ever, recovers its former rhythmical action, the victim being practically "wind broken." The slightest exertion subsequently brings on an attack either in ascending a stairon an attack either in ascending a stair-way, walking on an up grade or running for a train. The organ becomes more or less distended, and is unable to contract with sufficient force to propel the circula-tion. It may then recover itself after a dis-tressing seizure of impending suffocation or stop altogether as the result of paraly-sis. In elderly persons unaccustomed to acsis. In elderly persons unaccustomed to ac-tive physical exercise the accident is more common than in younger individuals, even when the heart is considered to be equal to its ordinary work.

Although fatty degeneration of the heart wall is most commonly a pre-existent condition, a general lack of muscular tone and feebleness of action may be sufficient to precipitate a sudden fatal issue. Thus this fact has a direct bearing upon the evil consequences of overexertion of every kind in

TO ATTAIN HIGH SPEED. Forecast of Experiments to Be Tried in

In a consular report written in April last summing up concisely the practical results of the experiments in high-speed electrical traction made last autumn on the specially lin and Zossen, the fact was noted that as tests the German Society of Mechanical Engineers had offered a series of prizes for the best design and specifications for a purpose of this competition, as was then stated, is to provide a unit of the equipment for the attainment of greatly accelerated speed in railway travel, which can be adapted to the present state railways of Prussia without the tearing up and relaying of tracks with heavier ties and rails that would be required for rapid electrical service.

According to Consul General Mason at Berlin, an interesting forecast of the pend-ing competition has been given by Mr. Arthur Kirchhoff, editor of a technical publication in Berlin devoted to engineering and machinery, in which a description is given of certain features of the new loco-Berlin-Zossen line next year. The speci fications require that this express engine and train of the future shall be able to and train of the future shall be able to maintain for three consecutive hours a speed of 120 kilometers (74.5 miles) an hour, without stopping for water or fuel, and at a minimum expenditure of motive power. Mr. Kirchhoff's outline of how this is to be Mr. Kirchhoff's outline of how this is to be done will have a definite interest to Ameri-

Every projecting part, every window, door

or other indentation which could form a pocket to catch the wind created by such high velocities increased the resistance to be overcome, so that in all future experiments the economy of rapid transit will require that the factor of air resistance shall be taken into careful account. This, ac-cording to Mr. Kirchhoff, is to be done by enveloping the engine and train, from the pilot to the rear platform, in a shell of sheet steel, jointed so as to secure flexibility in passing curves, and so constructed as to inclose the locomotive and cars in a contininclose the locomotive and cars in a continuous tube, uniform throughout in size and presenting no projecting irregularity which shall catch the resisting air. The front of the engine will be pointed or wedge-shaped, the sheath will inclose as far as possible the running gear of the cars, and even the wheels of both engine and cars will be closed disks of metal instead of, as now, spoked wheels with openings to catch the air.

MUST PAY THE PENALTY.

Naval Contractors Are to Be Held to Strict Accountability.

contractors for ships, armor, supplies, etc. are to be held to strict accountability in the enforcement of penalties for non-perform ance of work, according to contract. The case on which the ruling is made is not made public, but the ruling itself, which has a general application, is as follows: "This is a request for the waiver of pen alties on default of contract. The applicants claim that they were unable to fulfill the provisions of the contract, and argue that the government was not injured and the exaction of the penalties would be hardship. "The default is not denied and there is no evidence that the government exacted more than the contract called for. If the penalty worked a hardship, the answer is that it was introduced into the contract for that purpose. If the contractors would escape the penalty, they must avoid the de

Nor are such damages to be measured in dollars and cents alone. The moral ef-fect is not to be overlooked. The indifference with which contractors make and break contracts and then apply to the department for relief has become dangerous. If the policy of enforcing these penalties was strictly adhered to, it might at first work hardship to a few individual contractors, but the Navy Department is not a charitable institution, and in the end I believe it would be found salutary to the con ractors and to the advantage of the ser-

POWER IS IN CANADA Plaintiff in the Suit Against Northern

Pacific Merger. At the hearing in New York yesterday in he suit of Peter Power against the directors of the Northern Pacific railroad to prevent them from turning over the stock of the company to the Northern Securities Company George A. Lamb, counsel for Power, admitted that his client was living at the Queen's Hotel, Montreal, under the name of P. Blake. Mr. Lamb explained to the court that his client, Power, had been selected to bring the suit, which was really in the interest of others who did not wish their names to appear. Power became uneasy about his position in the case and ran away to Canada. Mr. Lamb said he had tried to induce him to return, and would make another effort in that direction if the court decides that his client is in contempt. He also declared that Power was the owner of a cer-tificate of stock in the Northern Pacific.

Louisville Man Shoots Three Women. James D. Cook, a carpenter, yesterday shot Mrs. Louisa Jones, Mrs. Mary Eberline and Mrs. Francis Rasner, all living in the same neighborhood in Louisville, Ky. Mrs. Rasner was the only one who was seriously wounded. The bullet struck her in the back. She is sixty-five years of age and the back. She is sixty-five years of age and her condition is critical. Cook said family troubles were responsi-ble for his act. He admitted that he started out to kill five women and then end his own life, but two of his intended victims were away from home.
